DECEMBER

5 THE WENDER WEIS FOUNDATION FOR CHILDREN presents its 6th annual Holiday Heroes event, a night of fun for families and kids in need at AT&T Park. There will be access to the Giants dugout and batting tunnels, a silent auction and s'mores on the field.

The event kicks off at 5:30 p.m. in AT&T Park, with a VIP reception preceding at 4:30 p.m. Tickets start at $200. For more details, visit holidayheroes.org. NHG sponsored.

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY

BY SANDRA SWANSON

San Francisco is dressing up for the holiday season in white tie, black tie and sparkling gowns. And we are spreading the good cheer, sponsoring events that enrich children's lives all year 'round.

And To All, a Good Night (or) All I Want for Christmas...

Giving the man in the red suit some stiff competition, The Wender Weiss Foundation for Children hits a home run for at-risk youth in the Bay Area with its sixth annual Holiday Heroes event. Co-chairs Marie Hurabiell, Mainul Mondal, Elaine Foreman and Dimitry Kushelevsky are touching all the bases for family fa-la-la at AT&T Park.

Access to the Giants' dugout and professional athletes? Check. Practice your swing in the batting cages? Sure thing. Hang out with sports heroes, play video games, decorate holiday cookies, stuff a teddy bear and make s'mores right on Giants' field? You bet. Help yourself to ballpark fare and beverages, and don't forget the Giants' holiday tree raffle.

Monday, December 5, 5:45 p.m. with VIP reception preceding at 4:30 p.m. AT&T Park, 24 Willie Mays Plaza. Tickets from $200. Wenderweiss.org; holidayheroes.org/ticket-levels/
